

NWC Questions

for Personal Study and Small Groups 9/2/12

Deuteronomy 31

Focus: on welcoming the strong love of God in all its fullness in our lives: choosing, protecting, rescuing those He loves

Read the chapter aloud then list every way that God acts on behalf of his people for their good. (A white board could help with this exercise)

Ask people to share which of these actions are "love in disguise" for them, or which ones are hard for them to welcome as God's loving care for them.

What is most impressive to you about the way God loves his people in this chapter? How is that same love true for you today?

Discuss why people resist God's love for them. Have people share ways they have done this in the past.

Share what it means for you to welcome the love of God into your life, based on the ways you see Him loving His people in Deut. 31.

NWC Questions

for Personal Study and Small Groups 9/2/12

Deuteronomy 31

Focus: on welcoming the strong love of God in all its fullness in our lives: choosing, protecting, rescuing those He loves

Read the chapter aloud then list every way that God acts on behalf of his people for their good. (A white board could help with this exercise)

Ask people to share which of these actions are "love in disguise" for them, or which ones are hard for them to welcome as God's loving care for them.

What is most impressive to you about the way God loves his people in this chapter? How is that same love true for you today?

Discuss why people resist God's love for them. Have people share ways they have done this in the past.

Share what it means for you to welcome the love of God into your life, based on the ways you see Him loving His people in Deut. 31.